March 18th 2013: The Eyes Illuminate Health with Hanne Hojsted

Iridology is the study of the iris of eyes. Similar to reflexology of the foot, the eye is divided into different sectors. Some iridology eye charts show 80-90 different sectors. Each sector represents a different organ or physiological system. Iridology enables a skilled practitioner to visualize conditions of the entire body, including every organ and physiological system, through the eye. The iris illuminates genetic predispositions, trauma over a lifetime, as well as current conditions such as inflammation or other disease syndromes. Clinical Iridology is primarily focused on current condi
