April 2nd 2013: Infertility and the Effectiveness of Chinese Medicine

On this episode we will discuss infertility, an area in which Chinese medicine can make a tremendous contribution for both men and women's health. Recent studies have shown that Chinese herbal medicine is twice as effective as western medicine in promoting pregnancy for women. We will discuss Chinese medicine's perspective on the leading causes of infertility for both men and women, as well as why Chinese medicine is shown to be more effective than western medicine. We will talk to a client who was successfully treated with herbs for infertility. In addition we will talk with Boyd Bailey, L.
