May 09th 2013: My Story: Discovering Energetic Healing

What is energetic healing all about? This week Healing from the Heart presents an overview of this new frontier of healing. Your host Chris will tell how he discovered energetic healing, how his life was changed through his own healing and decision to devote his life to helping others. Learn how everything is within you - your greatness and the energies that keep it hidden away. We will also look at the difference between having less and striving for more. Listen to this week's show with an open mind and it may lead to an open heart.
