

Educational Leadership: What Else is Possible?

Archives Available

June 13th 2013: Leadership and Self Deception

According to Arbinger the problems that typically prevent superior performance in organizations are the result of a little-known deeper problem called "self-deception". Problems in communication, accountability, trust, leadership, productivity, motivation—and so on—can all be traced to this single root cause. So: What is self-deception? How does it undermine performance? Can it be "treated"? If so, how? And most importantly: What can life be like without it—both at work and elsewhere? For leaders in particular, these questions stake out the new frontier in understanding and improving p

Read more

Tune in

Archives Available on VoiceAmerica Variety Channel

EPISODE ON DEMAND

VIEW HOST PAGE

Featured Guest

Chris Wallace, Ph.D.

Trained in psychology and the clinical treatment of families, Chris Wallace earned his Ph.D. in 1990 at BYU. During this time, Dr. Wallace published professionally, including co-authoring numerous journal articles on the incidence and prevention of premarital teen pregnancy. He taught at the university level of 12 years and has worked in treatment programs for youth over twenty years, twelve of them as a clinical director for the ANASAZI Foundation, a very successful youth treatment program. Dr. Wallace is licensed to practice in the field of psychology in the state of Arizona and is an Associate of Arbinger and has been a facilitator and consultant in the United States and Europe in sever

Read more

Share This Episode

Connect with VoiceAmerica

Download our mobile apps

