Turning Hard Times into Good Times

Tuesday at 12 Noon Pacific

August 06th 2013: How Do We Invest During the Great Deformation?

Jim Rogers and Eric Coffin return. In the 1970s Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's and other Russians longed for the blessings of liberty enjoyed in the U.S. Solzhenitsyn risked his life to speak of crimes committed against humanity by the Soviet Union. Now, libertarians like Edward Snowden seek refuge in Russia FROM a more clandestine brand of tyranny imposed on Americans by NSA thugs that control the U.S. government. Legendary investor Jim Rogers saw the rising storm clouds of an American dictatorship years ago, so he moved to Singapore. We will ask him what he would suggest to those of us those of u

Jim Rogers

Jim Rogers, a native of Alabama, is an author, financial commentator and successful international investor. Frequently featured in Time, The Washington Post, The New York Times, Barron's, Forbes, The Wall Street Journal, The Financial Times, and publications dealing with the economy or finance, he has also appeared as a commentator and columnist in various media and a visiting professor at Columbia University. After attending Yale and Oxford University, Jim Rogers co-founded the Quantum Fund, a global-investment partnership. He then decided to retire at age 37. Continuing to manage his own portfolio, Jim Rogers kept busy as a professor of finance at the Columbia University Graduate Sch

Eric Coffin

Eric Coffin is the editor of the HRA (Hard Rock Analyst) family of publications. Responsible for the "financial analysis" side of HRA, Coffin has a degree in corporate and investment finance. He has extensive experience in merger and acquisitions and small-company financing and promotion. For many years, he tracked the financial performance and funding of all exchange-listed Canadian mining companies and has helped with the formation of several successful exploration ventures. Coffin was one of the first analysts to point out the disastrous effects of gold hedging and gold loan-capital financing in 1997. He also predicted the start of the current secular bull market in commodities based on
