with Jay Taylor

Turning Hard Times into Good Times Tuesday at 12 Noon Pacific

January 07th 2014: Golds Great Depression. Is it Close to an End

Fund manager Dan Oliver and technical analyst J. Michael Oliver appear for the first time. Bill Laggner returns during the second hour at JayTaylorMedia.com. After 10 years of higher prices, gold fell 28% in 2013. So is the bull market over or just pausing? What about gold stocks? Oliver who manages a gold mining fund will present some well thought out answers to those questions and more. How will debt, equity and currency markets fare in 2014 compared to gold? What are prospects for another up year in U.S. stocks and U.S. Treasuries? Is that 30+ yr. bull market over? Fund manager Laggner w

Featured Guests

J. Michael Oliver

J. Michael Oliver entered the financial services industry in 1975 on the Futures side, joining E.F. Hutton's International Commodity Division, NYC. He studied under David Johnson, head of Hutton's Commodity Division and Chairman of the COMEX. In the 1980's Oliver began to develop his own momentum-based method of technical analysis. In 1987 Oliver, along with his futures client accounts (Oliver had trading POA) technically anticipated and captured the Crash. Oliver began to realize that his emergent momentum-structural-based tools should be further developed into a full analytic methodology. In 1992 he was asked by the Financial VP and head of Wachovia Bank's Trust Department to provi

Bill Laggner

Bill Laggner went into the investment industry in the late 1980s, initially as a stockbroker; then moved to the buy side at Fidelity Investments out of Houston, TX. Kevin Duffy and Bill Laggner are the brains behind the Bearing Fund. Bill met Kevin in the '90s and both cut their investing teeth on the short side of the tech bubble markets which imploded in 2000. Bearing Asset Management was formed in 2002. Bearing created the "Bearing Credit Bubble Index" in 2003, which identified the credit enablers of the biggest private sector bubble over the last 100 years. This allowed Bearing Fund to capitalize on the unwind of the last bubble while positioning the fund for the third and final bubble,

Chen Lin

Chen Lin, had been a doctoral candidate in aeronautical engineering at Princeton. However, Chen found his investment strategies were so profitable that he put his Ph.D. on the back burner to devote full time to private investing and writing a newsletter titled "What is Chen Buying? What is Chen Selling?" Chen's track record has been phenomenal! In one account we track in which he used no leverage, he was able to grow $5,411 starting in 2002 to over $2.2 million by the end of 2012. You can visit his website at <http://chenpicks.com/>
