The Business Elevation Show with Chris Cooper - Be More. Achieve More
Friday at 8 AM Pacific
April 11th 2014: The Golden Boy and The Headhunters

Are you fascinated by the secrets of people that achieve exceptional results while others seem to struggle? Also, why is it that our school systems don't necessarily accept and support people who are quirky and unconventional? They then leave and achieve exceptional results leaving their doubting teachers looking foolish. My guest left school dyslexic and a no hoper only to discover his natural talents led to him making his first million at the age of 22 and over the next 10 years becoming known in Denmark as 'the golden boy'. However unable to cope with his success he left everything behind

Featured Guest

Simon Steenholm

Simon was dyslexic, behind in school, and saw no future for myself. However at 22 he made his first million due to bravery, quirkiness and being unconventional. He went from shipping to kitchen decor, bathrooms, solariums, swimming pools, shares and currencies, houses and buildings. Everything he touched turned to gold but his health hit rock bottom. At 32 he ran away to travel the world for 3 years. Landing in Borneo he stayed in the jungle with the Iban people for eight years, leaving with a son as a completely different person. He became a keynote speaker, started 'laughter clubs' and quit smoking courses. Set up the "Mind fitness center " losing everything he owned. Went back to Malaysi
