May 22nd 2014: Corporate Governance in the Global Market:
Multiple Rules on Risk, Liability, Stakeholder Rights, Accountability, Transparency and Corruption

How corporations are governed has enormous impact on sustainability & profitability. So how do global firms assess risks & liabilities in a world of multiple, often contradictory, governance regimes? "What is legal in one country," says, Stetson Law Professor & expert on corporate governance Ciara Torres-Spelliscy, "may be illegal, even criminal, in another." Take political spending vs shareholders rights: A US CEO can give shareholder money to any politician s/he chooses, while a UK board is liable for unauthorized expenditure. How do you define business judgment? Bribery? Disclosure/Transpar
