

Between the Synapse
Archives Available
July 10th 2014: Would Renaming it Vandelay Exports help?

Tune in

Archives Available on VoiceAmerica Variety Channel

EPISODE ON DEMAND

VIEW HOST PAGE

As the result of Tea Party influence, the current charter on an eighty-year old institution that has supported more than $567 billion of U.S. exports may not be renewed come September. The Export-Import Bank of the United States, usually reauthorized on a bipartisan bases, is on the chopping block, caught in the cross-hairs of those who view it as ineffective, usurping the role of the private sector, interfering with the free play of market forces, engaging in crony capitalism, and picking winners and losers in the market. Listen in as Between the Synapse brings together a former member of the

Read more

SHARE DOWNLOAD PDF GET CODE

Featured Guests

Dan Renberg

Dan Renberg served both the Clinton and Bush Administrations as one of five full-time board members of the Export-Import Bank of the United States, authorizing more than $20 billion in US export financing in sectors such as energy, transportation, telecommunications, advanced medical equipment, and agriculture for buyers throughout the world.

Read more

Michael Lindemberger

Michael Lindemberger is the business correspondent in Washington, D.C. for The Dallas Morning News, where he previously worked as Arlington City Hall reporter and, for five years, as transportation writer.

Read more

Share This Episode

Share On Facebook Share On Twitter Share On LinkedIn

Connect with VoiceAmerica

Download our mobile apps

Available on the App Store Get it on Google play Download for kindle f t in RSS

Read what our hosts are writing about.

