"A heart for the Lord" ... a phrase frequently heard, but one that is truly exemplified by Tiffany Sweeley. Born and raised in South Carolina, Tiffany was called to a ministry of "music and word" at the tender age of ten. With her parents' support, she accepted the call and began singing at church and the local Christian TV station. Developing her gift with education, she majored in music at Indiana University where she received a Masters degree. After graduation, she found herself back in South Carolina performing at the Alabama Theater in Myrtle Beach, which eventually led her to Opryland in Nashville, Tennessee. After the famed theme park closed, she capitalized on her knowledge and pa

39 years old and in decent shape, but honestly my health and fitness was declining. There is no such thing as your health and fitness or anything else staying the same. You are either moving forward or moving backward. The one thing I had always taken pride in, was the fact that I could run around with my sons and even with the kids I coached, no matter what sport it was. BUT as I got older, we got busier and I could slowly see myself slipping down the path that most people go, watching their kids and grand kids playing instead of being able to run around with them. This was not what I wanted! There are some things I cannot control, like the fact that I am slowly losing a little bit of ha
