

Family Caregivers Unite!

Archives Available

August 19th 2014: First Nations Spirituality and Healing

John Louie is Men's support counselor at the Tla'amin community health center, <http://www.tlaaminhealth.com/>. He counsels aboriginal men on drug addictions, domestic abuse, alcoholism, and depression. Michelle LaBoucane, a Métis woman of French and Cree ancestry, works passionately to inspire aboriginal people to live lives of significance and of optimum health and wellness. They talk about their work and the role of First Nations spirituality in their work. They explain the most challenging of the challenges faced by the people and families they work with. They explain the approach to counsel

Read more

SHARE

DOWNLOAD PDF

GET CODE

Tune in

Archives Available on VoiceAmerica
Variety Channel

EPISODE ON DEMAND

VIEW HOST PAGE

Featured Guests

John Louie

John Louie is Men's support counselor at the Tla'amin community health center, <http://www.tlaaminhealth.com/>. He counsels aboriginal men on drug addictions, domestic abuse, alcoholism, and depression.

Read more

Michelle LaBoucane

Michelle LaBoucane works passionately to inspire people to live lives of significance and optimum health and wellness. A Métis woman of French and Cree ancestry, she strongly desires to help improve the health of aboriginal people.

Read more

Share This Episode

Share On Facebook

Share On Twitter

Share On LinkedIn

Connect with VoiceAmerica

Download our mobile apps

Come see what VoiceAmerica's hosts are writing, on PressBlog!

 VOICEAMERICA
PRESSBLOG