April 13th 2015: MOVING FORWARD SERIES - TO NEW THINKING AND NEW LIVING

Psychology has largely concerned itself with how people become injured: mental illness, organic brain dysfunctions, and minor problems of every kind. Recently a new branch of this science has developed studying topics like happiness, creativity, and peak performance. For many of us, the truths and techniques we have been working with in our individual lives -- affirmation, visualization, moving our emotional set-points, cultivating enthusiasm, learning to trust our intuition -- have become the subject of great scientific interest. It will come as little surprise that science is untangling t

David Casti

David Casti is a patented inventor who participated in creating many of the key technologies used by the Internet every day. In his journey as an entrepreneur, he has made hundreds of millions of dollars for his investors, has consulted for numerous Fortune 500 companies, and built the largest Oracle® database in the world at the time and a website that had 10 million visitors during its first day of operation. David achieved these successes and many more in his life by studying and applying the timeless truths that have been passed down for centuries. David published a 4.5 hour online program on this topic with his co-author Mike Dooley on Hay House Radio in August 2014. A revised an
