Kevin Duncan

Beginning at age 6, Kevin shadowed his father around to trap shoots in west Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas. Kevin saw some of the greatest shooting competitors in the United States in action. By age 13 he started shooting with his dad and helped run the Carlsbad gun club for two years. From age 13 to 17, he won 4 New Mexico state competitions and earned a reputation as a sportsman and a stiff competitor. In 1976 he was invited to the Olympic trials but, because of the high cost to participate, he had to decline. Kevin went on to attend college and continued to compete and won state competitions in both Kansas and Texas. He taught his children the knowledge of safety in fir
