Of course I always want my listeners to tune in every Wednesday for Barely Controlled Radio, but this edition will be one that puts me over the top through the airwaves. From NFL wide receiver to NFL's "most hated" player to Mirror Ball Champion to Ironman competitor to television analyst, my guest has done it all. The sky's the limit for this great man. I'm kind of sick to my stomach (in a good way of course) with all he's accomplished, so let's get to the behind-the-scenes radio show of the past and current life of the man, Hines Ward. We all as humans have much to be proud of with our many

Hines Ward

Tough. Confident. Passionate. Intense. Uncompromising. Persistent. All these words apply when you talk about Hines Ward, particularly when it comes to the game of football and life in general. When you talk about Hines Ward, you are talking about perhaps the greatest wide receiver in Steelers' history and certainly the best blocking wide receiver in NFL history. If you have any doubts, let's go over his accomplishments: he owns every receiving record in franchise history, he is a 2-time Super Bowl Champion, the MVP of Super Bowl XL, a 4-time Pro Bowler, all-time team leader in receptions, receiving yards, and receiving touchdowns, he is the only receiver in Steelers history to surpass 1,00
