July 14th 2015: Principles of Personal Health Information Privacy for Persons living with HIV/AIDS

Micheal Vonn, lawyer and Policy Director of the British Columbia Civil Liberties Association, <https://bccla.org/>, describes her work as it relates to HIV/AIDS. She says what privacy means, how privacy differs from confidentiality, why it's important to distinguish between privacy and confidentiality, and what's meant by personal health information and personal information as it relates to men, women and children living with HIV/AIDS. She identifies what she sees as the challenges to privacy created by record systems used by healthcare services, by social services, and by public health services
