September 29th 2015: Camp Firebug--Healing Is Afoot

Turning personal tragedy into healing for others? Who would have the courage and the compassion to do that? Well, Julie and Seth Palmer from Michigan are doing just that. When their youngest son was born with a serious muscular disease, it was not only difficult to deal with but brought into question the meaning of life itself. Then, they turned it all into a grand adventure for their son, themselves, and the whole family. They had already learned to live above the fear and smallness of religion, so they were prepared from their inside reality to do this differently. Camp Firebug is a developi

Julie and Seth Palmer

Using Tragedy for Transformation--A local couple is inspired to start a summer camp for disabled kids after learning of their own son's devastating diagnosis. Julie Palmer knew almost immediately that something was different about her son, Eli. After a battery of tests and extreme emotional upheaval, doctors determined that her little boy had central core disease (CCD). It's not considered fatal, but the disease (mostly characterized by muscle weakness) would be lifelong. While many people would have fallen into despair, Julie and her husband, Seth, refused to allow their son's diagnosis to destroy their happiness. Instead they decided to walk the path of healing and share it with others
