March 24th 2016: Winning Ponies Welcomes Horse Racing Nation Managing Editor Brian Zipse and Writer and Handicapper Gary West

Brian Zipse who operates the site Horse Racing Nation has been tracking the horses who will compete for the rich purses in Dubai this week. Led by the 2014 Horse of the Year, California Chrome, and last year's Wood Memorial and Pennsylvania Derby winner, Frosted, a field of 13 probables has been announced for the March 26 Dubai World Cup. Both American stars have been in Dubai for some time, and they each look to be coming up to the race in fine fettle. Brian will give us an update on the scene in Dubai. New Orleans native and outstanding handicapper Gary West will join us to examine fo

Brian Zipse

Brian Zipse has been a passionate fan of horse racing since birth. Taken to the races at a very young age, he has been lucky enough to see all the greats in person from Secretariat and Ruffian through Rachel Alexandra and Zenyatta. His first memory at the races was seeing Secretariat become a Triple Crown champion by winning the Belmont Stakes by 31 lengths. Currently the Managing Editor of Horse Racing Nation, the fastest growing racing news site on the Internet, Brian also authors a daily column as Zipse at the Track, or ZATT for short. As a partner of parent company, Horse Racing Labs, Brian is also involved with the management of Derby Wars, an exciting new online handicapping tour

Gary West

Gary West who currently is a frequent contributor to ESPN, was a regular columnist for the Dallas Morning News and Fort Worth Star Telegram. The son of a jockey, West was a college teacher before returning to the racetrack and writing about horse racing. He has appeared as a commentator on racing on ESPN and on CNN, and has hosted his own radio program on racing. He wrote several books about horse racing, and notably "Razoo At The Races: Diary of a Horseplayer" which is one of the funniest books ever written about the racetrack and horse racing. Gary West entertains readers with wit while imparting horseplaying wisdom and insight. West was the President of the National Turf Writers Associa
