July 12th 2016: Encore: The Art and Science of Medicine: A Conversation with Dr. Mikkael Sekeres

Hippocrates, the Greek physician who is revered as the father of medicine, said, "The art has three factors: the disease, the patient, the physician." On this episode of Frankly Speaking About Cancer guest host Linda House takes a look at the physician experience—the changing landscape in which they practice, the challenges they face as well as their hopes and aspirations for the future. Linda is joined by Dr. Mikkael Sekeres whose NY Times and Huffington Post blogs aim to shed light on just that.
