July 14th 2016: Winning Ponies Welcomes Thoroughbred Trainer William 'Buff' Bradley and Professional Handicapper Michael Beychok

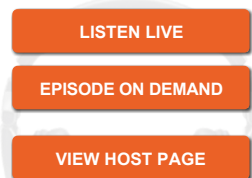

A big day of racing this Saturday at Indiana Grand Racecourse, with the $500,000 Indiana Derby (G2) and the $200,000 Indiana Oaks (G2) on tap, we invited William 'Buff' Bradley to discuss his career and his late father Fred's influence, Brass Hat's second career and the quirky The Player, who will run in the Indiana Derby. The 'Saratoga Tournament' is now offered as two separate one-day events instead of a two-day affair, and will take place Wednesday, Aug. 10, and Thursday, Aug. 11. Michael Beychok won't have to buy his entry to the 2016 Saratoga Tournament, which was formally announced

William 'Buff' Bradley

William 'Buff' Bradley was born and raised in Frankfort, Ky, and began working at age ten on his father's farm performing such duties as foaling mares, breeding shed prepping, sales prepping, breaking and training yearlings, and galloping layups. While involved with the daily operations of the training center, he also took classes at night and graduated in 1989 from Kentucky State University with a degree in business management. In 1989 he left his father's center and went to work on the track as an assistant trainer for the late Clarence Picou. During a 4 year stay with Clarence, he oversaw strings at Remington Park, Oaklawn Park, and Louisiana Downs. With Picou he learned a lot about br

Michael Beychok

As a part of the Eclipse Awards festivities, and to salute horse players throughout North America, the Eclipses honored Michael Beychok, who won the $1 million first-place prize and title of 2012 Daily Racing Form/National Thoroughbred Racing Association Handicapper of the Year last January at Treasure Island Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas. The National Handicapping Championship is the pinnacle of all tournaments for horse players and is the culmination of a yearlong series of NTRA-sanctioned local tournaments conducted by racetracks, casino race books, offtrack betting facilities, and horse racing and handicapping websites. The NHC has enjoyed tremendous popularity over the past decade. Th
