Featured Guests

Leslie Ellis

Leslie successfully negotiated her first sales job at the tender age of 10 when she convinced her neighbor that she could take care of their newborn baby. Not many youngsters would have that maturity, but she was...and still is...confident in her talents and abilities. Leslie started her professional sales career selling to large organizations such as Oracle, Sony and Charles Schwab which she did for 20 years. This experience spanned every level of management and many sales processes. She was awarded multiple honors including gold club three years in a row. Gold club required over $500K in sales per year. During this time, she also earned an MBA. Leslie found her next adventure working

Nina Price

Nina Price is "The Queen of Midlife Transformation". She is quite simply: Not Done Yet. With an M.B.A. from the University of Michigan, she is a former Silicon Valley high tech marketing exec who after twenty years in the computer industry learned that "it was time to do something else". In 2001 she "pushed her own reset button" and reinvented herself as a midlife success coach and board certified healthcare professional (a licensed acupuncturist and master herbalist), so she could solve more kinds of problems, as she serves women tackling the transformations that come with midlife and beyond. Nina lives in the Silicon Valley with her husband. She has two grown daughters and six grandchild

Dr. Julianne Blake

Dr. Julianne Blake is an expert on Stress Release - the path to wellness and personal power. She helps overworked, overstressed and overwhelmed business owners double their energy and double what they get back. She has inspired and empowered women through her speaking, writing The Success Secret - a best-selling book co-authored with Jack Canfield, and her coaching and therapy practice of twenty five years. With her doctorate in psychology, license in MFT counseling, success coaching certification and training in Neuroscience, she teaches you to heal from within, simply by re-training your brain. Her mission came from wanting to overcome a degenerative disease, and not be its victim.

Ana Fatima Costa

What I want more than anything else is peace. For as long as I can remember, before I make a wish -- while blowing out candles on a birthday cake or throwing coins in a fountain -- I "hear" three words as soon as I close my eyes: Peace. On. Earth. Yet my personal and professional life has been filled with turmoil and drama. Court reporters must maintain their composure at all times and detach from the emotion, politics and drama of lawyers and witnesses at a deposition or trial, while simultaneously detaching from their own internal reactions to the intensity. After almost a lifetime of struggling with self-acceptance and self-love, adapting this profound process changed my li
