May 25th 2017:IoT Meets Healthcare: The Internet of Medical Things -IoMT

The buzz: "A survey of 12,000 adults across 8 nations showed that...70% are receptive to using toilet sensors, prescription bottle sensors or swallowed health monitors" (D.M. West). The Healthcare industry has long been at the forefront of adoption of innovative technology and the Internet of Things (IoT). Why? Integrating IoT medical devices has improved the quality and effectiveness of Healthcare service, especially for the elderly, chronic conditions, patients requiring constant supervision. The experts speak. Dr. Peter Killcommons, Medweb: "The real cure for what ails our health care system
